

Rosweyth Hwithrans Kernewek
Cornish Language Research Network

Registers in Revived Cornish

Pol HODGE
Akademi Kernewek

Abstract

This paper aims to put forward the idea that as Cornish is a living language, with speakers using it informally and in unplanned occasions, it has developed registers. After more than a century since the publication of Henry Jenner's Handbook of the Cornish Language (1904), this paper notes the recent increase in artistic activity as well as wide-spread intense scrutiny of the texts.